Plain, Zinc, GR.5, And Yellow Hex Tap Bolts

Hex tap bolts are commonly used in construction, automotive, and agriculture applications. These bolts are similar to hex bolts except that they are fully threaded regardless of their length. They are designed for use in drilled and tapped holes and applications where a stud with a nut on each end would be impractical.

Hex Tap Bolts To Meet All Matter Of Requirements

Our inventory includes a wide range of hex tap bolts. We not only carry many different sizes, we also offer plain or with stainless steel, zinc, and zinc yellow finish options. Choose from bolts that meet with A307, SAE J429 Gr.5, SAE J429 Gr.8, and TP304 specs directly from our catalog.
