

SELF DRILLING SCREWS

BACO
ENTERPRISES INC

Address: 1190 Longwood Ave Bronx NY 10474 | Toll Free: 1-800-622-2226
Tel: 1-718-589-6225 | Fax: 1-718-991-6647 | www.bacoent.com

A nighttime photograph of a large suspension bridge, likely the Manhattan Bridge, spanning a body of water. The bridge's lights are illuminated, and the city skyline in the background is lit up with various lights. The image is partially obscured by a blue and white curved graphic element at the bottom.

Galvanized, Stainless Steel, And Zinc Self Drilling Screws

Self drilling screws, also known as Tek screws, are used like drill bits and other cutting tools, which means that there is no need for pre-drilled holes because the screws can be drilled and tied using the same rotational motion. These types of screws are used to form their own mating thread by creating their own holes, as the screws are being driven into the material. Self drilling screws have a high-hardness point and lead threads for drilling and tapping.

Getting Carbon Steel And Stainless Steel Drilling Screws

We carry self drilling screws in a comprehensive range of sizes and in the most reliable industrial materials. This includes carbon steel drilling screws that provide added toughness and rigidity. We also carry stainless steel drilling screws that offer strength and are corrosion resistant, as well as galvanized and zinc options.

Why Source Drilling Screws From BACO Enterprises?

When you need drilling screws for your next job, it's important that you work with a trusted supplier that can assure product quality and speedy order fulfillment. Our customers continue to source these and other bolts and fasteners from us, including socket head cap screws, hex cap screws, and hex lag screws, because we have the selection and service capabilities to reliably meet their needs. Customers can also rely on us for on-site job surveying that will help determine the best components for the unique needs of an individual application.

What You Can Expect From BACO Enterprises

When you choose us as your supplier of self drilling screws, you can expect competitive pricing, fast delivery, and reliable products. Our longtime relationships with international and domestic fastener suppliers allow us to pass significant savings on to our customers. Thanks to our dedicated in-house inspection and testing practices, and our expedited shipping capabilities, you can also expect your items to reach you without delay and to meet with your requirements.

Customers throughout the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic, including New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Delaware, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, and Virginia, can get expedited shipping thanks to our delivery fleet.

